When Does a Commemorative Stamp's Period of Normal Postal Usage End? Investigating Uses of the 8¢ Gandhi from the Champions of Liberty Series

by David M. Frye, Editor

If you've saved issues of Souvenir Sheet, you might have noticed I've spent the last several years digging into the 1961 issues of the U.S. Post Office Department and then turning my findings into the occasional article. My latest focus has been the 4¢ and 8¢ pair of Mahatma Gandhi issues from Jan. 26, 1961. These stamps, released only days into the administration of President John F. Kennedy, concluded the Champions of Liberty series, begun during the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

In my search for non-first-day and non-philatelic covers showing the stamps used to meet regular mail needs, I've discovered the 4¢ issue is much more common than the 8¢ issue. The lower of the two denominations met the first-class surface mail rate. I have several nice examples of this usage. The 8¢ stamp covered the rate on a two-ounce letter at the time of its issue; that's a usage I'm still seeking.

On the other hand, I have located the air-mail cover in this article's illustration. A little magnifying-glass work reveals that the letter was postmarked on "2? SEP 1965." The total of the three stamps comes to 15 1/2¢, slightly overpaying the 15¢ rate for a one-ounce letter from the U.S. to Germany.

So, the question is this: if the 8¢ Gandhi issue appeared on a letter four and two-thirds years after its release, was this an in-period usage? My first hunch was that the use occurred a bit long after release to be normal usage. Perhaps the letter was correspondence between stamp collectors. The fact that the letter was addressed to a "Dr. Walter Fetsch & family" leads me away from the collector-to-collector theory (although it would be nice to think of a whole family enjoying philately together!).

This conundrum led me to a little additional sleuthing. I discovered mentions of the Gandhi issues in the online archives of the Post Office Department's The Postal Bulletin. One, in particular, is worth mentioning. The Oct. 14, 1965, issue notes that "the following items are available in bulk quantities to first- and second-class post offices only ..." (p. 7). Listed are a number of 5¢ commemoratives and the 8¢ air mail Robert H. Goddard issue, released a year earlier. At the bottom of the list appears one last item: "8¢ Gandhi (available in lots of 7,200 and multiples thereof."

Since the per-ounce air-mail letter rate within the continental U.S. held at 8¢ for five years, beginning Jan. 7, 1963, it seems the Post Office continued to promote sales of the Gandhi commemorative until long after my cover was delivered to West Germany, making this an in-period usage. A nice cover with a bit of history to add to the mix for an exhibit!

SHOW AND TELL

May 2014 Exchange

Bring Your Unusual,
Intriguing Items

Members of the Club are encouraged to bring items from their collection to the program meeting—the second meeting of the month—to show to the other Club members.

You can bring an unusual or distinctive item, an item with a story, an item that needs further identification, or any other item that captures your eye and interest.

We will take some time at this second meeting to give members a chance to show their items and to tell (or ask!) about them.

This is a great way to share with fellow collectors some of the high points of your collection and to find out about nooks and crannies in the world of philately you may not have known about before.

Thanks for giving this invitation some thought and for bringing your items to enrich our Club's gatherings.

The Club offers the following items at its monthly exchange. Make payments in cash or in personal checks made out to the Club. Items with a catalogue value are donations to the Lincoln Stamp Club; proceeds from the sale of donations benefit the Club's general work. Opening prices on donated items appear under "Minimum."

"Genesis of Philately" Arrives in the U.S. for the First TimeNational Postal Museum to Display Rare Philatelic Gem

The Smithsonian's National Postal Museum will display an extremely rare philatelic item, noted by stamp experts as the "genesis of philately." On temporary loan to the museum, the extraordinary and historic postal document will be on display—for nine days only—in the museum's new William H. Gross Stamp Gallery May 3–11. The May 2, 1840, cover shows the earliest known use of two different philatelic elements: the Penny Black, the world's first adhesive postage stamp, and the Mulready One Penny letter sheet.

On May 1, 1840, Great Britain issued the world's first postage stamp: the Penny Black. It revolutionized postal services worldwide. Mulready postal stationery lettersheets were also officially issued on that day. Neither the stamps nor the stationery were valid to prepay postage before that date; however, a few Penny Blacks and Mulready "covers" are known to have passed through the post office before the official date of issuance.

The May 2, 1840, cover being displayed at the museum is the only known item carrying both the Penny Black and Mulready One Penny letter sheet.

"The May 2, 1840, cover connects us to the very beginnings of philately and the modern postal system."
—Allen Kane, director of the National Postal Museum.

"The May 2, 1840, cover connects us to the very beginnings of philately and the modern postal system," said Allen Kane, director of the museum. "We are excited to bring this rare item to the United States for the very first time."

The National Postal Museum is devoted to presenting the colorful and engaging history of the nation's mail service and showcasing one of the largest and most comprehensive collections of stamps and philatelic material in the world. It is located at 2 Massachusetts Avenue N.E., Washington, D.C., across from Union Station. The museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. ET (closed Christmas Day).

For more information about the Smithsonian's National Postal Museum, call (202) 633-1000 or visit the museum's Web site.
